High Point Market Authority Cancels Postponed Spring Market

This is copied in full from a press release sent out by the High Point Market Authority (HPMA) on 4/16.

HIGH POINT, N.C., April 16, 2020 — Due to ongoing impacts, government restrictions, and economic difficulties stemming from the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic, the High Point Market Authority announces the cancellation of the Spring 2020 High Point Market. The next High Point Market is scheduled for October 17 – 21, 2020.

Originally scheduled for April, the Market Authority previously announced market's postponement until June, allowing for the possibility that conditions would improve in time for the show to occur.

spring product introductions through a variety of digital channels, including a special website section, articles, e-newsletters, social media posts, and webinars. They are additionally working with industry partners to develop creative programs and resources to assist in ongoing information sharing.

Major buildings and individual showrooms who are positioned to welcome buyers during non-Market times will likely open for appointments at some point over the summer, once government regulations ease to allow the buildings to reopen.

Registration for Fall Market will open in mid-July at www.highpointmarket.org.
