WASHINGTON (Sept. 15, 2020) — The 2020 NAIC Fall National Meeting, initially scheduled to be held in Indianapolis, Indiana, will now be held virtually. Due to the ongoing health challenges that are being associated with holding large in-person meetings in the midst of the COVID-19 pandemic, NAIC officers, in consultation with NAIC members, have decided to proceed with planning for the meeting in a virtual format.

“The health and safety of attendees was the most important factor in making the decision to hold this meeting virtually,” said NAIC President and South Carolina Department of Insurance Director Ray Farmer. “While we are disappointed that we will not be able to meet in person, we were pleased by the participation in the Summer National Meeting and expect a high level of engagement at this meeting as well.”

The NAIC is planning a full and interactive agenda for the fall meeting. A schedule with specific dates and times will be available on naic.org (<https://web.archive.org/web/20200925183155/https://www.naic.org/>) by the end of September. Registration for the Fall National Meeting will open the week of September 22nd. Additional information regarding the 2020 NAIC Fall National Meeting will be announced as it becomes available.

About the NAIC

As part of our state-based system of insurance regulation in the United States, the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) provides expertise, data, and analysis for insurance commissioners to effectively regulate the industry and protect consumers. The U.S. standard-setting organization is governed by the chief insurance regulators from the 50 states, the District of Columbia and five U.S. territories. Through the NAIC, state insurance regulators establish standards and best practices, conduct peer reviews, and coordinate regulatory oversight. NAIC staff supports these efforts and represents the collective views of state regulators domestically and internationally. For more information, visit www.naic.org
